NEW YORK IN THE NEXT DECADE.
The humblest citizen within her boundaries has a tangible interest in the irresistible growth of the New World's greatest city, which is destined at no distant date to absorb the towns and cities that already lean on her, and a great breathing space from the contiguous country.
The bill introduced by Mr. Crozier yesterday creates a commission to inquire into the expediency of taking immediate steps to help destiny in this work of municipal aggrandizement.
It seems to be a good committee and may take measures for the public good. Whether it does or not, the future of New York is assured. She will be the great city of the world in the twentieth century!

WORLDLINGS.
Gen. Lew Wallace is writing a new novel similar to "Ben Hur." The scenes are laid in the Orient and the time is two hundred years ago. It will be in press within a few months.
The late Congressman Townsend was the youngest of seven brothers, three of whom joined the Confederate forces while three went into the Union ranks. Mr. Townsend himself was too young to enlist and remained at home to take care of his mother and sisters.
A feather eighteen inches in length, plucked from the wing of a large bald eagle and fashioned into a quill pen, has been sent to the President. It is the gift of a resident of the Oklahoma country.
Senator Kenna, of West Virginia, is not a handsome man, nor does he bear any noticeable resemblance to the typical statesman. He is manly and strong in appearance, but his features are cast in a rugged mould.

MUNDANE MATTERS.
Coffee and doughnuts couldn't carry the day against cocktails and dollars in New Hampshire. But these trophies of sweetened dough may be preserved as perpetual reminders of the battle their bakers and eaters fought against the rum demon. Gilded and hung up over the mantel by the side of a shattered rum bottle the cookie might easily be made to convey this warning legend to the young and thirsty soul:
Dough Not Drink!

Electrical executions, which a talented young Irish scholar named James O'Gordon Duffy has aptly named electrocutions, have been tried on dogs and horses. But if it comes to a test of taking life, why is the animal that has the most lives neglected? What's the matter with cats?
They played before the Prince of Wales, and London swelled all looked on, and loud cheered the beauty and the ton whose verdict over there ne'er fails
To stamp a triumph!
Who were they? Who were they?
Some tragic kings, the drama's pride?
Some diva of a fame world-wide
Whom managers large fortunes pay
To cross the seas to sing and play?
No, no, my boy, they were the lads
Who raked in glory, strikes and roads
And everlasting fame and balls
Within the Polo Ground's high walls;
They were the baseball champions—
The heroes of a hundred runs!

POLICEMAN FREEL CLUBBED.

SLEPT IN AN "L" TRAIN AND SAYS THE TICKET AGENT BEAT HIM.

Policeman Edward C. Freel, of the Sixteenth Precinct, was complainant in the Yorkville Court today against Ambrose C. Madden, a ticket agent at the One Hundred and Twenty-eighth street station on the Suburban Elevated Railroad, whom he accused of having clubbed him.
The policeman whose head was bandaged, said that he got into a Second Avenue elevated car late last night to go to his home at 1773 Lexington Avenue.
He fell asleep and rode to the One Hundred and Twenty-eighth street station, and as he struggled Madden dealt him three terrible blows on the head with his (Freel's) club.
Madden denied the charge and was held for examination.

HE DOESN'T CONFESS.

The Boy Krulisch Still Maintains His Innocence.

Brought Up in Court on a Writ of Habeas Corpus.

Did He Have an Accomplice Who Did the Deed?

The weight of evidence possessed by the police indicates the errand boy, Willie Krulisch, as being the murderer of Drug Clerk Gunther Wechsung in Otto Doepfner's pharmacy, at 937 Third Avenue, last Thursday morning.
Still there are many who, after seeing the lad, cannot bring themselves to believe him capable of such a deed.
He is not a vicious-looking chap. On the contrary his personal appearance is strongly in his favor.
He is a great liar without doubt, but many boys of his age and station in life are just as bad as far as that goes.
Hardware Merchant Freundlich says that he cannot be mistaken. He is sure that Krulisch is the boy who murdered the hatchet from him on Wednesday last, the day before Wechsung was butchered. His friend, Schlesinger, who was in the store when the trade was made, is equally positive that Krulisch was the buyer.
The boy stubbornly insists that they are mistaken.
Even those who do not believe that he murdered the clerk think that he is lying when he denies buying the hatchet.
Their theory is that he bought it for some man or woman, and that the person he bought it for perpetrated the horrible butchery.
The murderer, they think, has some powerful hold on the boy—either gratitude or fear, which keeps him silent under the present circumstances.
In view of the discovery made by an Evening World reporter that Wechsung feared violence at the hands of an outraged husband, whose wife he had an intrigue with, many people believe that the husband is the murderer, and that the boy was his accomplice.
Others again think that it was the woman, and that the boy helped her commit the crime. Those holding the latter theory say that the boy may have fallen in love with the woman, and if so, was only too ready to aid her in any way.
Krulisch was seen in the Tombs by an Evening World reporter this morning, who asked him innocently:
"Are you ready to confess yet, Willie?"
He pressed a very serious-looking young face against the iron-barred door of his cell, and responded:
"I have nothing to confess. I did not buy the hatchet. I did not murder Wechsung. He and I were always the best of friends."
He declared that he had never seen any woman calling on Wechsung at the drug store, but the dead clerk did receive many letters, which he burned as soon as he had read them.
"When did you see him have a letter last?" asked the reporter.
"Tuesday before he was killed. He got one in the first mail that morning and read it through quick. Then he tore it roughly up and threw the fragments in the stove."
"Did you ever mail any letter for him to people in this country?"
"No. All the letters I mailed were addressed to Germany. He used to mail some letters himself, though, and those, I guess, were for some one here."
"What makes you think so?"
"Because he would generally write a letter after receiving one of those he used to burn and then he would go out and mail it himself," he concluded.
Capt. Warris said this morning that his men were still at work on the case, but nothing new had transpired.
He refused to tell what progress they had made in the search for the blonde woman, Wechsung's fair friend.
Krulisch was arraigned in Supreme Court, Chambers, before Judge Lawrence on the writ of habeas corpus procured by Lawyer Purdy.
Mr. Purdy asked for his clients discharge on the ground that there was no proof to substantiate the charge of murder against him. Mr. Dos Passos, of the District Attorney's office opposed the motion, and Judge Lawrence dismissed it. Krulisch was sent back to the Tombs.

Mr. Purdy later applied to Judge Gilder for permission for the boy Krulisch to appear before the Grand Jury to-morrow, and the Judge, saying that he looked favorably upon the application, reserved decision until morning.

WHERE LAUGHTER REIGNS.

Not Entirely Cleaned Out.
(From Judge.)

Boston Father—This can't be my son!
His Son (from the Nebraska sheep ranch)—Yes it can, dad, and he's got something left, too. Most of the fellows lost everything they had.

An Advantage of Marine Burial.
(From the Pittsburg Chronicle.)
First Pittsburg—I tell you there are no flies on my uncle.
Second Pittsburg—How so?
He was buried at sea.

A Peculiar Climate.
(From the Pittsburg Chronicle.)
Jones (to his friend just returned from Canada)—What sort of a climate is it in Canada, anyhow?
Smith—The most peculiar climate you ever saw. Alderman O'Bafferty, of New York, is Charles Montgomery in Canada. It's the only climate I ever saw that could change a man's name. Singular, isn't it?

A Grave Defect in the Play.
(From the Times Herald.)
Manager—I don't like the dude in your play. Author—What's the matter with him?
"He is not sufficiently stupid. You must throw more idiosyncrasy and imbecility into the role of the dude, for there will be a lot of experts from Fifth Avenue in the audience."

In a Stationery Store.
(From the Pittsburg Chronicle.)
Young Lady Customer—Why, this box of writing-paper is perfumed with a violet odor. How queer. What do you do that for?
Clerk—So that your correspondence can be kept inviolate, miss.
"How nice. I'll take four boxes."

The New York Boy.
The New York boy is not precisely a child of the devil, but for malicious mischief he is hard to beat. One of them was overheard initiating a strange boy from the lawless South into the mysteries of New York life.
"Why is winter the best time to throw stones at windows," said the New York boy.
"Because you can see the houses have double windows, and you can break two panes with one throw, and you only get one licking, just the same as if you had only broken one pane."

SCARE FOR FIGHTERS AND BACKERS.
The Grand Jury said to be being stirred up to find indictments.

It has leaked out that the present Grand Jury is having its attention called to the recent fight between Mike Cushing and Harry Bartlett, as well as other ring events had in this vicinity of late.

Whether the fights took place within New York jurisdiction or not need not, it is claimed, deter the Grand Jury from finding indictments against all parties concerned, as nearly all the fights in this vicinity are understood to be the result of agreements entered into in this city.

It is said that the Liederkreis Society, or at least a Committee appointed by that body, is going to have the police stirred up by the Grand Jury for not making some effort to put an end to such illegal agreements and meetings. This is alleged to be only another section of the war waged by the Liederkreis Society against the police for the latter's interference at their ball and banquet.

March April May
Are the best months in which to purify your blood, for at no other season does the system so much need the aid of a reliable medicine like Hood's Sarsaparilla, as now. During the long, cold winter, the blood becomes thick and impure, the body becomes weak and tired, the appetite may be lost. Hood's Sarsaparilla is peculiarly adapted to purify and enrich the blood, to create a good appetite and to overcome that tired feeling. It increases in popularity every year, for it is the ideal spring medicine.

"Early last spring I was very much run down, had nervous headache, felt miserable and all that. I was very much benefited by Hood's Sarsaparilla and recommend it to my friends." Mrs. J. M. Taylor, 1119 Euclid Avenue, Cleveland, O.

FOUR SHOTS IN THE SALOON.

Francis Gorey Wounded in a Fight After a Masked Ball.
After a masked ball at the Lexington Avenue Opera House a number of the maskers drank this morning in Herman Wellenbrock's saloon, Fifty-eighth street and Third Avenue.
At 4.30 a. m. officer Quinn heard four shots inside the saloon, and on entering found the place upside down, the bartender named Book, haas, absent, and young Francis Gorey, of 221 East Forty-fourth street, bleeding from a pistol shot in the arm.
The bartender showed up later, and in the Yorkville court, said that the young man assaulted him, and he fired in self-defense. Gorey's wound is not serious.

March April May

We Anticipated the Public.
(From Howard's Column in the Press.)
THE EVENING WORLD of yesterday astonished its multitudinous readers by printing, on its first page, fac-similes of THE EVENING WORLD of March 12, 13, 14 and 15, the biz-zard quartet of 1888. Every word was legible, and the pictures as suggestive now as then. THE WORLD was enabled to do this through facilities afforded by E. M. Gill, who reproduces books entire in fac-simile, and engravings for all illustrative purposes, by a process known as photo-electrotyping. As an evidence of what can be done in the hurried endeavors of a daily newspaper, by this process, the first page of THE EVENING WORLD is simply perfect.

A Disapproving Director Resigns.
(BY CABLE TO THE PRESS NEWS ASSOCIATION.)
PARIS, March 13.—M. Pillet Weill, a director of the Bank of France, has resigned because he disapproves the action of the bank in making advances to the Comptoir d'Escompte.
